

Radium Audio rethinks sound showreel

🕒 JUSTIN CONE SEPTEMBER 19, 2013

Radium Audio takes an interesting approach to their sound design and music composition reel. Love the picture-in-picture behind the scenes.

SHARE

TAGS: reel, sound design

5 Comments

Jon Yeo

September 20th, 2013

From a Directors POV, they are top to work with. Both on commercial jobs and personal projects.

George Hedon

September 20th, 2013

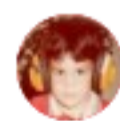

We are very proud for your work on Pause Fest 2011 opening titles that still sounds from the future. It's was really a sound moving experience. Thank you!

Steve @ Digital Pro

September 20th, 2013

We've had the opportunity to work with Radium Audio on a number of occasions. They are incredible. What they bring to a project is a level of passion that highlights how important good audio can compliment and elevate images. We now rely on them creatively on most of our projects and love the process of working with them.

Justin Cone

September 20th, 2013

Wow, it's pretty neat to see all the love here. I knew Radium were good – didn't know they had such a loyal fan base. Cool.

tuesday mcgowan

September 20th, 2013

This is clever way to present a sound studio reel . . . seeing the process, hearing the composer's commentary is insightful. Nice job Radium.